

NEW SERVICE

Buprenorphine Treatment

For those struggling with opiate use.

Hamm Clinic is excited to announce a new service to help those struggling with opiate use. Buprenorphine (Suboxone) is used to take away withdrawal symptoms, reduce cravings, and enhance daily functioning.

Bud Lile, M.D. has been involved in the treatment of chemical dependency for twenty-five years. He is board certified in both addiction medicine and psychiatry. An early adopter of this intervention, he can help you break the chain of addiction and work towards a new day of recovery.

This service is designed for people who are willing to commit to a lifestyle of recovery and who are not already on buprenorphine from another provider.

Additionally, being a client at Hamm gives access to a whole suite of services for both addiction and psychiatric issues.

About Hamm Clinic:

Hamm Clinic offers psychological evaluation and assessment, individual, group, and couple/family therapy, psychiatry, case management, and nursing to our clients in our integrated care model.

Our evidence-based, integrated services are trauma-informed, culturally responsive, and accessible to all. Our goal is to relieve psychological distress and, at the same time, support better functioning at work, at home, and in the community. We want to support clients in feeling connected and hopeful, so they feel more equipped to lead meaningful lives.

Hamm Clinic promotes mental health with culturally responsive, relational care for adults, especially those facing financial barriers.
